SWOT Analysis

In the United States, vocational school & training centers are one of the many businesses that can easily generate business deals with little stress as long as they are well-positioned. We are building a standard vocational school & training center with various training areas which is why we have decided to subject our business idea to SWOT Analysis.

Ordinarily, we can successfully run a normal vocational school & training center

Strengths

Radiant Vocational Training Center, LLC is centrally located in an area with the right climatic conditions and demographic composition for the kind of business we want to run. Another strength that counts for us is the power of our team; our workforce and management. We have a team that is considered experts in the vocational school line of business, a team of hardworking and dedicated individuals.

Weaknesses

Radiant Vocational Training Center, LLC is a new business and we may not have the financial muscle to acquire the latest equipment needed to train students, to attract and retain the best hands in the industry, and also to sustain the kind of publicity we want to give our business.

Opportunities

We are centrally located in one of the busiest areas in Orange County – California and we are open to all the available opportunities that the city has to offer. Our business concept and staff strength also positioned us to accommodate over 100 students per time.

The truth is that there are no standard vocational school & training centers within our area; the closest to our proposed location is about 10 miles away. In a nutshell, we do not have any direct competition within our target market area.

Threats

Some of the threats that are likely going to confront Radiant Vocational Training Center, LLC are unfavorable government policies, seasonal fluctuations, demographic/social factors, the downturn in the economy which is likely going to affect consumers spending, and of course the emergence of new competitors within the same location where our vocational school & training center is located.

Market Analysis

Market Trends

TIP

The truth is that any vocational school & training center that has good records and loads of positive testimonials from students who have passed through the school will always thrive.

Another common trend in the industry is that in the bid to survive the global economic meltdown and to ensure a steady flow of income to effect the business, most players in the industry engage in other related

Target Market

TIP

Prior to choosing a location for our vocational school & training center, we conducted thorough feasibility studies and market surveys and we were able to identify those who will benefit greatly from our service offerings.

Essentially, the demographic and psychographic composition of those who require our services cut across individuals, school leavers, corporate organizations, aspiring entrepreneurs, and religious organizations.

Competitive Advantage

TIP

In spite of the fact that vocational schools scale through hurdles before they are established does not mean that there are no real competitions in the industry. The truth is that no matter the line of business that you are involved in, as long as it is called business, you will definitely face one form of competition or the other and vocational school & training center is not an exemption.

Startup Expenditure (Budget)

TIP

If you are looking towards starting a vocational school & training center, then you should be ready to raise enough capital to cover some of the basic expenditures that you are going to incur. You will need money to secure a standard facility, acquire different types of training machines and equipment, acquire licenses and permits, relevant software apps and you will need money to pay your workforce and bills for a while until the revenue you generate starts to cover the costs.

Generating Funds/Startup

TIP

Radiant Vocational Training Center, LLC is owned and managed by Richmond Jones and other members of the faculty. They are the financiers of the business which is why they decided to restrict the sourcing of the startup capital for the business to just three major sources.

- Generate part of the startup capital from personal savings and investments.

Sustainability and Expansion Strategy

The future of a business lies in the number of loyal customers that they have, the capacity and competence of their employees, their investment strategy, and the business structure. If all of these factors are missing from a business, then it won't be too long before the business closes shop.

One of our major goals of starting the Radiant Vocational Training is to build a business that will survive off its own cash flow without
