Solution

Lynder is an online nightlife social network for mobile which serves as an instant online dating platform, as well as a social game between users. The platform's unique UI design, background music, clothing, alcohol, etc., simulate an authentic nightlife environment.

After logging in through a Facebook account, Lynder uses the user's Facebook profile picture for the user's avatar. Additional information such as age, sex, and interests are available after clicking the user's avatar.

Users can define types of events they want to participate in, see how many users are online, and even join together with friends to the same event. Special events such as Hip-Hop parties, the '90s, and gay parties in special rooms will be opened to attract a similar audience to increase chances for successful connections.

Lynder has numerous features that make the interaction more effective and fun by creating an atmosphere as similar as possible to a real nightlife experience. The entire interaction is made life, making Lynder the first instant online dating platform which increases interaction's efficiency.

Competitors Analysis

Badoo

Tinder

Shaker

TIP

As stated above, there are thousands of different websites and mobile applications that offer online dating services. Some target the mass market while others specialize in niche markets such as the gay community (Grinder), married people (Ashley Madison), university and college graduates (Alpha), etc.

Badoo

Badoo, founded in 2006, is an online dating social networking service. The site operates in 180 countries and is most popular in Latin America, Spain, Italy, and France. Badoo ranks as the 281st most popular website in the world, according to Alexa Internet as of April 2014. The site operates on a freemium model, where the basic service is free for everyone but users have an option to pay for premium features.

Badoo has several premium services. For example, the "Encounters" game allows users to click "yes" or "no" on other users' photos and if there is a match the two users are notified. The site allows users, in return for a fee, to use the "Rise Up" feature which gives their profile more visibility on the site for a limited time.

Badoo.com had an average of 140M visitors between 2017-18

The high percentage of direct visitations indicates that Badoo is widely common among online dating consumers.

Tinder

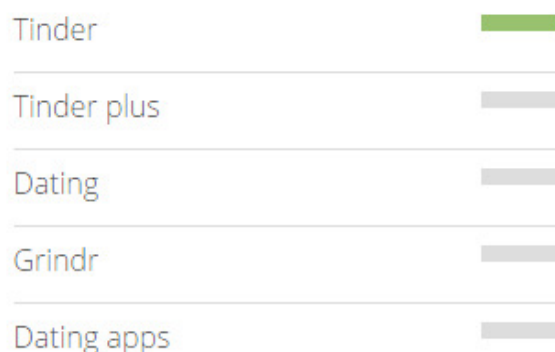

Tinder is a location-based social discovery application that facilitates communication between mutually interested users, allowing users to chat with their matches. By using Facebook, Tinder is able to build a user profile with photos that have already been uploaded. Basic information is gathered and the users' social graph is analyzed.

Tinder is used widely throughout the world and is available in over 30 languages. As of late 2014, an estimated 50 million people use the app every month with an average of 12 million matches per day.

Tinder works on a freemium model. It has a paid-for subscription service called "Tinder Plus" which offers several services such as an "undo" button and a "Passport option" for searching outside your current geographic region for a fee while maintaining the app's free service for those uninterested in a premium account. Tinder is currently testing advertising on the app as another source of income.

How users found this app within Google Play

According to the table above, more than 95% of Tinder users found the app after typing "Tinder" in the search, which shows its widely known and strong brand among online dating platforms consumers.

Shaker

Shaker, founded in 2009, is a Facebook application that creates online venues where users can host events of different kinds for any size of the audience and interact with other Facebook users. By using information from Facebook, Shaker lets the user walk around in different venues and environments, choosing from all kinds of events. The user can chat with friends and friends of friends, get introduced to other people, listen to music, and more. Shaker won first place at the well-respected TechCrunch Disrupt competition in 2011.

Shaker offers users who wish to host events 3 plans – Trial, Business & Premium. The Trial plan allows users to host events with up to 100 participants, while the Business plan offers the same along with additional features and costs $100 a month. The Premium plan allows users to host events with up to 30,000 participants with various ranges of prices according to the event's specifications.

Since its launch, Shaker did not make any major headlines. Its Facebook page has 5.3K likes and has a rating of 3.2 out of 5. According to Facebook, the app has approximately 600 monthly users. According to statistics gathered from Similarweb.com, the site has significantly low traffic, as shown in the table below:

According to experts in the industry, one of the reasons for Shaker's failure was focusing on Facebook while neglecting the mobile platform which is considered more appealing for singles aged 15-34.

Competitive Edge

TIP

Most online dating services offer a platform for chatting and matching potential users with one another, based on profile information. They ignore the experience of going out to a bar or coffee house and interact in a nightlife environment which includes alcohol, music, social gathering, dress codes, and more.

Sponsorship

In order to generate awareness to Lynder among the target group and encourage usage, the revenue model will be based on both Freemium and Sponsorship models.

Freemium

Lynder can be downloaded for free from both the App Store and Google Play. There will be certain features that the user has to pay in order to unlock such as buying a premium drink, put fancy clothes, invite a VIP room, host a big event, etc.

Sponsorship

There are many types of potential sponsors for Lynder – alcohol brands, fashion brands, clubs, cigarettes, and more. As Lynder traffic grows, these sectors will have an opportunity to advertise on a dedicated online platform that has a huge crowd of users with the common ground (e.g. singles, nightlife people, geographically related).
